Greetings Coalition Family!

White Bread

I have been asked on many occasions where does the person involved in an interracial relationship fit in the scheme of repositioning the american-born Afrikan to a status in keeping with their place in the universal family? By some it has been assumed that our efforts are to the detriment of whites. The only whites that will be negatively affected are those that have enjoyed and continue to enjoy the relegation of dark people to a less than equal status in this society. And in the long run, they too will be enriched.

I am fond of analogies to a fault, but that will not deter me from sharing this one with you. Let us imagine building a sandwich, two slices of bread and the filling of your choice. Now let's further imagine you like both white and rye breads equally (equally is the operative word, stay with me now). We want the white and rye bread to influence our taste buds equally (there's that word again). Now if the rye bread has not been prepared true to its recipe, perhaps unduly influenced by the varying amounts of bleached wheat flour, it will not make its true contribution to the sandwich, some of the flavor in this sandwich will be lost.

"We hear you! Get to the point!" I am likening a relationship to a sandwich; the filling is the love caring, trust passion, dependency, the bread, the participants. No matter the flavor, if one slice is deficient, is less than it was intended, it will not make an equal (that word again) contribution to the beauty of the sandwich. Black folk in this society have been closed off from our original ingredients, have lost some, and in extreme cases, all of our original flavor. I see the need to regain the flavor in order to make an equal (you have to be getting it now) contribution to the flavor of this universal sandwich. So, whether you're in wheat on rye, a white on rye, wheat on white relationship, get your flavor together it can only make a better sandwich.

Ed.

With the winter moratorium over for Utility shutoffs, many families have to make the decision to pay their utility bills while sacrificing necessities such as summer food for their children. On the newly designed CAP4Kids website at www.cap4kids.org/philadelphia, under the Utilities subsection (<http://cap4kids.org/philadelphia/parent-handouts/housing-utilities/utility-programs/>) you will find listing of utilities programs for low income families as well as energy saving ideas.

Also, under the Food/Nutrition subsection of emergency food resources (<http://cap4kids.org/philadelphia/parent-handouts/food-nutrition-breastfeeding/emergency-food-resources/>) you will find summer food programs for kids as well as a listing of various emergency food resources in Philadelphia.

Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger

New hotline helps families find free summer meals for kids

Starting this week, families in Philadelphia can call a toll-free hotline to find nearby locations that offer free summer meals for children. Operated by the Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger, the hotline is 1-855-252-MEAL (6325). Families can also text “MEAL” to 84700 to receive a call back.

“During the regular school year, tens of thousands of low-income students rely on free or reduced-price meals at school,” said Carey Morgan, Coalition Executive Director.

“But when school is out and they’re not getting that food, they face higher risks of hunger and malnutrition. The Philly Summer Meals Hotline will help families fill that void, by referring them to nearby recreation centers, parks, churches and community organizations that offer free meals to kids and teens.”

Last year, more than 119,000 children in Pennsylvania received summer meals. But that’s less than one-fourth of the 553,000 low-income children who received free or reduced-priced lunch during the regular school year—a sign that many low-income children who need summer meals aren’t getting them, according to a recent report from the Food Research and Action Center. Recent budget cuts have also forced the School District of Philadelphia to reduce the number of summer programs it offers, meaning fewer students will be eating free meals in summer school this year.

Despite the change, “there are still nearly 1,000 sites serving free summer meals in Philadelphia, so there’s no reason any child should go

Kim's Charity Birthday Celebration

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

I want to share with you information regarding an event coming up this Friday, July 27, 2012 from 7 pm - 10 pm at Mixto's Restaurant, 1141 Pine Street, Center City, Philadelphia.

As a RSVP member of Professional Networking Associates, you are aware that many of the events, we advocate support community initiatives focusing either on youth engagement or community leadership development.

This event, Kim's Charity Birthday Celebration focuses on providing backpacks and school supplies to needy families in Frankford section of Philadelphia.

I think its a wonderful gesture for Kim to use her birthday and personal relationships to do something special for youth and families in the Frankford area.

However, this kind of thing is typical for Kim Washington. Her job is as a community organizer and event coordinator for the Equal Partners In Change (EPIC) Community Stakeholder group in Northeast Philadelphia.

Kim works to organize and facilitate a process of community engagement that connects community residents with vital resources and powerful relationships. She works with influential elected officials and needy families and individuals. Kim helps to level the playing field between government systems and your local nieghbors by creating a positive, interactive environment for individuals and organizations to work together for the good of their community.

The Northeast EPIC Community Stakeholder Group consists of members of civic organization, police department, school district staff, Faith-based organizations, Community Development Corporation, State representatives Tony Payton, jr., and Jorge Santana, City Council Maria Sanchez as well as community residents from across the northeast area.

The types of initiatives and events that Kim coordinates, supports and advocates for are numerous including:

This is one cultural and political institution that truly belongs to us, and as such we will sustain it. Sistas' Place has no corporate sponsors, wealthy guardian angels, but Sistas' Place has you and I. And the good news is that 's enough.

Million Fathers March

The Million Father March is an opportunity for Black men to show their commitment to the educational lives of their children on the first day of school and throughout the school year. On the first day of school each year since the March began in 2004, Black fathers, relatives, men, and significant male caregivers are asked to take their children to their first day of school. Fathers, grandfathers, foster fathers, stepfathers, uncles, cousins, big brothers, significant male caregivers and friends of the family will participate in the event. Last year, 100,000,000 fathers in 767 cities took their children to school on the first day of school. This year we expect 1,250,000 fathers in 800 cities to participate in the Million Father March

Among the participating cities is our very own Philadelphia. A former educator and proud father David Fattah is the coordinator for the Million Father March 2012 here. This year for the first time The House of Umoja will be creating a companion journal to accompany the March and would like to distribute it to the participating fathers and care givers and also the interested public not only here in Philadelphia but also in the other participating cities.

Q: Are these manufacturer coupons or coupons that I print on my computer?

A: All of our coupons are actual manufacturer coupons. Fewer and fewer retailers accept coupons that are printed from your computer because of a huge increase in counterfeit coupons. Actual manufacturer coupons which we issue are accepted everywhere that coupons are accepted.

Q: Can these coupons be doubled?

A: Yes. These are manufacturer issued coupons and may be doubled in any store that offers double coupons.

Q: What are the face values and the expiration dates of these coupons?

A: Being manufacturer coupons, the manufacturer determines the face values of the coupons. We currently stock coupons ranging in value from 40 cents to 5.00 dollars. The coupon expiration dates are generally valid for 90 days.

Q: How can I use $1,000.00 worth of coupons in 90 days?

A: With our program, you get to choose the coupons you want, when you want them. This way you never have to worry about the coupons expiring.

Q: How do I choose the coupons I want?

A: Each coupon book contains coupon request slips which you fill out and send in. Those coupons are then mailed to you.
